

Regents Meet For Campus Inspection

Today marks the observance of Regents' Day, at which all the regents of the University System of Georgia will meet in Milledgeville for a regular meeting of the Board of Regents. The regents chose Milledgeville for their meeting-place in order that they might take part in the festivities which are the order of the day.

At 9:30 this morning the Regents met in the conference room for their regular business session, at which, it is understood, the future building program was discussed. Chancellor Sanford gave his report, and Dr. Guy H. Wells also made a report. This is the first time that the regents have decided to get personally acquainted with an institution by getting first-hand information from the President. This practice will be continued.

At 11:30 the meeting was adjourned in order that the regents might go to the auditorium for the Parents' Day program, which is being given by the Granddaughters' Club. The Governor and the Regents will be introduced.

At 1:00 luncheon will be served in honor of the parents and distinguished guests, and the regents will attend the pageant in front of the Mansion at 4:30. They will also attend the ball in the old Executive Mansion tonight at 9:00.

Last night the regents and their wives were entertained at a formal dinner. During their stay in Milledgeville, they are being entertained by the college and are staying in Beeson and Ennis Halls, through the courtesy of the girls who are doubling up for the night.

Members of the Board of Regents are Marion Smith, Chairman; S. V. Sanford, Chancellor; L. R. Siebert, Secretary; and W. W. Noyes, Treasurer; E. D. Rivers, ex-officio during his term as Governor; L. W. Robert, Atlanta; T. Jack Lance, Young Harris; J. Knox Gholson, Comer; George Hains, Augusta; John G. Kennedy, Savannah; George C. Woodruff, Columbus; Cason J. Callaway, La-

Restored Mansion Celebrates Hundredth Birthday Today

Old Salon, UDC Room Principal Changes

S. V. SANFORD

Chancellor of The University System.

GOV. E. D. RIVERS

Restoration of the old Executive Mansion is the feature of surpassing interest in the Centennial Celebration being held today. Organizations and individuals have contributed much to the restoration of the Mansion, and it is hoped that the Mansion will become a shrine as dear to the hearts of Georgians as Arlington is to Southerners.

One of the most noticeable changes made in the Mansion is the removal of the partition that divided the old salon and the renovation of the room into a beautiful ante-bellum ball room.

United Daughters of the Confederacy have restored the south part of the Mansion with suitable furnishings, and the Alumnae are planning to contribute furnishings also.

Among the gifts that have been received for the Mansion are a crystal chandelier, presented by the students under the direction of Mrs. Hines and many beautiful pieces of furniture.

Dr. J. L. Beeson and Mrs. Nan Barsdale Miller are giving two new chandeliers for the old salon. Mrs. H. D. Allen has given an original chair and Miss Clara Morris has given an old rosewood piano.

Two original oil paintings of the grandparents of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo have been received from Mrs. Walker of Waycross, and Mrs. Miller S. Bell has given the gold frames for the portraits.

Descendants of governors who have lived in the Mansion have given portraits and other valuable gifts of relatives back to the Mansion.

Yesterday afternoon was devoted to a pilgrimage to the old homes and historic spots of Milledgeville. These included the old Capitol Building, the boyhood home of Wm. G. McAdoo, Lockery, built by Judge Dan Tucker, Rockwell House, once the summer home of Gov. Herschel V. Johnson and later the home of Gen. Myrick; Allen's Invalid Home, including Thalian Hall, one of the buildings of Oglethorpe University, established in 1833, with a room occupied by Sidney Lanier; home of Mrs. David Ferguson, built by her grandfather, Peter J. Williams, in 1818; Home of Mrs. C. P. Crawford, built about 1820 by John Williams; home of Miss

Ceremony And Costumes Make Gay Pageant

The enacting of the Mansion's hundred years, a pageant to be given this afternoon will delight those who love Georgia history and are glad to honor a Southern shrine. Coming as the second attraction on this day, the first being the fifth annual Parents' Day to be sponsored by the Granddaughters' Club in the morning, the pageant will be followed by the Centennial Ball this evening.

Using Sir Walter Raleigh's words, "Historie hath triumphed over time," as a theme Miss Katherine Scott, author of the pageant, has woven into her work the beauty of the past century.

Part one of the pageant is headed The Legislative Life of the Mansion, with a sub-head of Tennyson's beautiful words, "Tender Grace of a Day that is Dead." The spirits of Milledgeville, of the Mansion and of Legislation lead the way for the appearance of the eight governors

Virginia Reel, Susie-Q Show Dance Changes

A waltz, a quadrille, and a Virginia Reel will compete with a fox trot, Big Apple, and a two step tonight in a melodious mix-up caused by the meeting of 1838 and 1938, in the old Governors' Mansion here. Those making the rapid and frequent transition from one century to the next will include Governor and Mrs. E. D. Rivers, the Board of Regents and Chancellor S. V. Sanford of the University System of Georgia.

The students and their dates will probably make no compromise with 1838 at their dance in the street fronting the Mansion. They will dance a la 1938 to the music of Sam Pair's orchestra.

The Grand March of the Mansion Dance will be led by Governor E. D. Rivers and Mrs. Guy H. Wells. The Mansion Ball will be in costumes of the 1830's.

Both the ball and the street dance will be held from nine until one.

PARENTS' DAY PLANS INCLUDE STUDENT SPEAKERS, PICNIC

Approximately 2500 invitations to parents and friends of the college have been issued for the combined Parents' Day and Mansion Centennial celebrations. Visitors from all over Georgia and neighboring states are expected to attend. The Granddaughters' Club sponsors Parents' Day annually.

Members of the Granddaughters' Club will be the main speakers for the Parents' Day program to be given in the auditorium at 11:30.

Registration will take place during the morning, up to 11:00, according to announcement by Miss Blanche Tait, sponsor of the Granddaughters' Club and director of activities for Parents' Day. There will be a booth in front of each dormitory presided over by members of the Granddaughters' Club where parents can register. Parents of town girls will register in front of Parks Hall.

During the morning, parents are invited to visit classes and administration buildings. Open house will be held in all of the dormitories.

Minna Hecker To Sing With Ga. Glee Club

The University of Georgia Glee Club will appear at G. S. C. W. May 18 at 8:30, when the students will offer a varied program of songs, music, and humor.

Appearing with the Club will be two of the South's outstanding musicians, Hugh Hodgson, director of the Division of Fine Arts at the University, and Minna Hecker, Atlanta concert soprano, who is the Club's guest artist on this year's tour.

Songs of all kinds, operatic, popular, collegiate, and folk, will be heard. Dance music, jokes, and a humorous skit will be included on the program.

The selections range all the way from the "Miserere" to "I Got Shoes" and a humorous musical skit called "Julius Sneezer."

A University student dance orchestra, the Georgia Collegians and members of the University Little Symphony will appear with the Club.

Aeolian Glee Club Sings May 20th

The Aeolian Glee Club composed of seventy girls from the various classes of the college will give their annual concert Friday, May 20th, in Russell Auditorium at 8:30 P. M. The girls have rehearsed diligently since September, memorizing and working out the details of the program. The club will be assisted by Beatrice Horsburgh, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Allen, Martha Liddell will give a reading. A girls' trio, Hortense Fountain, Melba Ruckley, Harriette Chick accompanied by Jeanette Bryan, will also sing. Olivia Strickland will play a group of numbers as well as accompany the club. The chorus is under the direction of Max Noah, Director of Music at G. S. C. W. The program and personnel is as follows:

Rain, Curran, Sapphie Ode, Brahms, Will O' The Wisp, Spross, Glee Club. (Continued on back page)

Sugar Scientist Honored Tomorrow On Herty Day

Representatives from all of Georgia's major educational institutions, visitors from several other states, former medal winners and former members of the Chemistry club will gather on the campus tomorrow for the celebration of Herty day and the awarding of the Herty medal to Dr. Charles E. Coates of Louisiana State University.

The activities of the day will include an informal tea at "Westover," home of Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Lindsey beginning at four o'clock. A formal dinner at the Mansion will honor Dr. Coates and the many visitors and exercises at the Auditorium at 8:30 climaxing the day's events will feature an address by Dr. Coates on "The Chemist and the State."

Among the many guests will be two former recipients of the award, Dr. W. H. McIntyre, of the University of Tennessee, and Dr. J. L. Howe, of Washington and Lee. They will be accompanied here by their wives. Other prominent chemists will be Dr. Hol W. Moseley of Tulane, Dr. Herty, Dr. Guy of Emory, Dr. Weber, of Tech, chairman of the Georgia Section, and many others.

Dr. Coates will be entertained while in Milledgeville by Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Beeson who are old friends of this year's medal winner, having been at Johns Hopkins together.

At the formal presentation ceremony Saturday night Martha Koebler, President of the Chemistry Club, will preside. Dr. Wells will deliver the welcome for the college to be followed by a presentation of the medal to the Georgia Section of the American Chemical Society by Miss Koebler, its acceptance by Dr. Paul Weber of Georgia Tech. Following this Dr. J. Sam Guy of Emory, chairman of the committee on award, will make his report and the medal will then be awarded to Dr. Coates.

Dr. Coates will speak on the "Chemist and the State" and the program will be concluded by remarks by Dr. Herty.

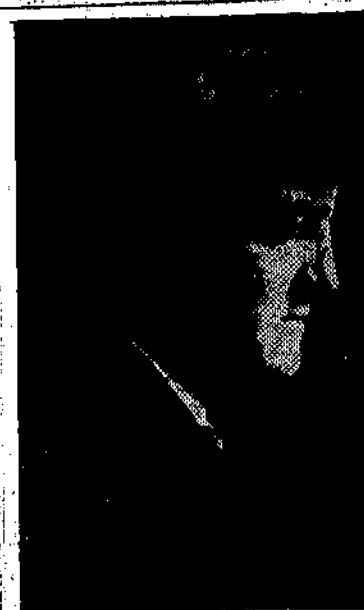

The Herty medal, symbolic of outstanding accomplishment in the field

Phelps, Stoves To Speak At Commencement

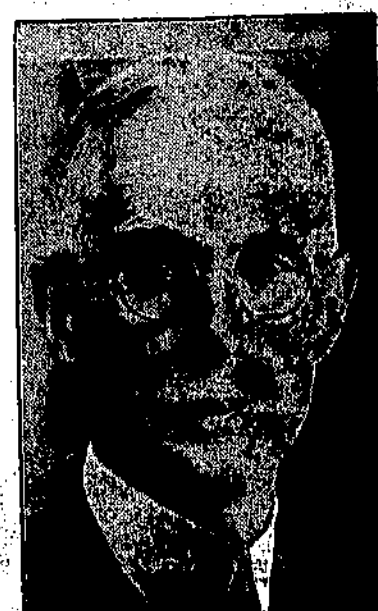

Rev. George Stoves, pastor of the Mulberry Street Methodist Church of Macon, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class on June 12, according to an announcement made by Dr. Wells today.

Dr. Shelton Phelps, president of Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C. will be the principal speaker at the graduating exercises on Monday, June 13. Dr. Phelps is a nationally known educator and was formerly Director of Instruction at Peabody College before accepting his present position. Dr. Phelps is well equipped to speak to college girls as Winthrop is the school in South Carolina corresponding to G. S. C. W. Dr. Phelps is Executive Secretary of the Southern Association of Colleges.

Dr. Stoves is a leading Methodist minister and has been active in the affairs of the Methodist church in Georgia and the South for a number of years.

"Madam Curie" by Eve Curie

Reviewed by Kathryn Tedder.

"She was a woman; she belonged to an oppressed nation; she was poor; she was beautiful. A powerful vocation summoned her from her motherland, Poland, to study in Paris, where she lived through years of poverty and solitude. There she met a man whose genius was akin to hers. She married him; their happiness was unique. By the most desperate and arid effort they discovered a magic element, radium."

This short summary of part of the beautiful and heroic life of Madame Curie only gives one a peephole into the stirring events which took place in the life of the famous scientist and in the lives of her family. Just when she and her husband were beginning to get the well-deserved recognition of their genius the tragic death of Pierre threw Marie into a state of utter grief. However, she went on, trying now to do alone the work which they once had done so happily together.

It Looks From Here

A hundred years ago, 1838, the builders of the Mansion looked out upon a rather strange world, circumscribed by time and the circumstances of their surroundings. To us it seems a little little world, but to them of course it presented complexities all its own.

A contrast of the physical world of 1838 and of 1938 provides us with striking examples of the scientific and mechanical progress of man in the short span of a century. In 1838 the handicraft system of industry was just beginning to be displaced by the incoming factory system in New England. The South was beginning to turn from the equality in industry which it had possessed with the North and was becoming committed to a slave labor, plantation cotton economy, an economy which was to lead it farther and farther from the industrial North. The waves of European immigration, particularly from Ireland and England were beginning to sweep to these shores, bringing an added impetus to industrial movement. In England the social consciousness of the people was beginning to be stirred and we find the passage of the first of England's great social laws; in France the iron hand of inaction and reaction controlled by the Congress of Vienna still held the reins of power despite the revolution and Napoleon. Eli Whitney's cotton gin had been copied and duplicated so fast in the South that it was impossible to protect its patent rights; the production of cotton and the increase of Negro slavery were rising rapidly. Transportation was still slow, and water transport was still regarded as the most rapid and efficient method of travel. When we turn however to the social side of the picture, to our ideas, to what we have done with these inventions from the standpoint of increased happiness, increased comfort, increased liberty, enlightened ideas and the like our progress is rather slow. Let's see, in 1838 the stormy petrel of early American politics, Jackson, had just left the scene. Van Buren had been in office but a year. The tariff policy of the United States had been in operation some ten or more years. We still have the tariff, and the arguments advanced in favor of it might be the same that were echoed in the halls of Congress a hundred years ago. The principle of states' rights was coming to the front as the burning question of the day. In a time when the states were separated by more time-distance than now transport was still regarded as the

Herty Day

Once again the Chemistry Club does honor to an outstanding Southern scientist by honoring Dr. Charles E. Coates of L. S. U. for his outstanding researches in sugar.

These Herty medals, symbolic of outstanding achievements in Southern chemistry, are rapidly becoming recognized throughout the south as one of the preeminent honors bestowed on our southern chemists. The award serves a double purpose in that it honors both the recipient and also Dr. Herty, whose researches with pine have proved his mastery of the field and placed him among the foremost American chemists.

The recognition of these men and the bringing of these scientists to the campus is an action on the part of the Chemistry Club which is of merit in the general campaign to raise scholarship standards. On any campus where scholarship standards are high the recognition of work of consistent quality is necessary to maintain it. The selections of the Herty winners for the past several years have shown the high type of scholarship recognized by the Chemistry Club as worthy of receiving the recognition. Dr. Coates is of the same caliber. The Colonnade congratulates the Chemistry club on its selection and Dr. Coates on the award. Dr. McIntyre of Tennessee, and Dr. Howe of Washington and Lee are conspicuous recent examples of the type of men they honor bestowed upon him.

Remarks on Exiting

The past two lead editorials of the Colonnade have been given over to certain remarks pertaining to a college education, and neither of them have been designed to give a very flattering picture of undergraduate perception. In "Studentus Georgianus," a professor made some very pointed, if perhaps humorous comments to his class in regard to their interests and scholastic attainments. "Standards of Pedagogy" was an editorial comment on Carnegie Bulletin No. 23, a report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, which served to point out rather forcibly some extremely unpleasant facts about us undergraduates, among them being the fact that often we know less when we finish college and get ready to teach than the students we are supposed to teach.

This editorial is printed with a purpose, a double purpose, one being to reinforce what we have said in the past in regard to scholarship and college education generally and the other to end with this note, the association of the present staff with the campus.

Through four years of college we have progressed, or think we have, from cocksure freshmen to doubtful seniors, and we have been exposed, and examined, and reexamined, and quizzed, and fussed at, and scolded and encouraged, and treated both like babies and adults, and sometimes by turns and sometimes apparently without rhyme or reason. One cannot help but gain the distinct impression from reading accounts of higher education such as those written in recent months by Marchant of Chicago, Conant of Yale and the Carnegie foundation without realizing that those who teach us are often more in the dark than we are about what we learn, why we learn it, what we should know when we get out, and the value of the whole array of integrated and non-integrated material which we call "higher education." It is certain that our ideas of what constitutes education are radically changing, and are subject to considerable doubt.

There must have been a time, somewhere in mama's day, when things were sure and certain, and we knew why we came to college and we knew what we were supposed to get from it. Now we don't. We don't know and it's pretty apparent that our teachers don't know. Presumably we who are about to graduate are educated at least we used to think a college degree meant that, but now we are beginning to doubt whether we are or not, or whether we are educable at all or not.

In all the welter of opinion over the question of scholarship and scholarship standards it is only natural that students should have become interested themselves in what we are getting. Last year a move was begun in the columns of this paper to "improve scholarship" on the campus, but immediately we faced the issue of what is scholarship anyway? Is it raising grades, making work harder, adding an extra page to the lesson assignments, writing term papers, or exactly what? The faculty seemed to be in not whole agreement and neither were we. This year the attempt has been carried still farther and an honors society for recognizing (sic) scholarship has been set up. But the real issue lies deeper.

The Colonnade has editorialized this year for a number of things, some of them we admit in retrospect, look a bit silly and many of them perhaps were not pertinent to the general idea, but we believe that the only true raising of scholarship will come with the development of a self-reliant, self-respecting and responsible student body. The cutting of administrative red tape, the lessening of administrative responsibility and the creation of student responsibility for actions, conduct and scholarship attainments has been our idea. Fortunately we have not been cramped in expressing what we felt about it. We sincerely believe that a cut system will aid rather than hinder this end. The administration has never tried to stop us from saying so, even though many of them honestly do not agree with us. This fact in itself is a forward step. An honors society is certainly a splendid step in recognizing ability and scholarship when it occurs, we believe that a cut system will place students still more on their own responsibility for their work, will remove from the faculty the necessity of "keeping the students up" and will allow for the more earnest students to go forward more rapidly. We may be wrong, but that's what we think.

We believe that standards of admission, and more importantly, of staying in school after admission, should be drawn more rigidly, and that a failing grade is more than a "mere passing mishap" as Students Georgianus states. Carnegie Bulletin No. 23 shows pretty clearly that you can't educate everybody, so why try? Let's develop a responsible student body, worth developing and let those who won't take responsibility and won't go to class drop out or go elsewhere.

It is with this note that the staff of 1937-38 bows out and gives its place in the sm to the newly elected staff. Is been a lot of fun, and a lot of work too, and we're sorry that we're "educated" and have to leave, but we feel sure that the new staff will become a more vital force on the campus and will endeavor to do all it can in developing scholarship, which, it seems, many feel is sadly lacking.

Welcome, Parents!

May 13 marks the fifth anniversary of entertaining our parents on the campus of the place that to us has become almost a second home. We take this opportunity to welcome cordially each individual parent in the hope that the day may prove to be the success that the Granddaughters Club and the student body wants it to be.

In the usual run of letters from daughters and visits of parents to the campus, it is difficult for the visitors and recipients of the letters to gain a real idea of how the college functions and how we spend our time. This one day in the year college has set aside to initiate our parents into our college life and to see deeper than the surface into the life we lead here.

It is through our parents that we are enabled to be in college now. We want them to meet our friends, our instructors, and the heads of our college. We want them to see our environment as it really is, not as we feel that they should see exactly what they are giving us. We want them to visit our rooms, our classrooms, our recreational areas, just part of it or a glimpse of it.

So let us take this opportunity to welcome you, parents, on a day set aside especially for you. It is our hope that it will be as pleasant for you as the anticipation of it has been for us.

Particular commendation should go to the Granddaughters Club who have made this day possible. The Granddaughters, who are the official hostesses of the day, have planned and worked to make this day as big a success as the four others have been, and we feel that they deserve a great deal of praise.

Again, parents, let us say—Welcome to our campus. It is yours for the day.

Stories By Scandal-light

With all the aftereffects of a week of parents, and seniors and the descendants of governors and with a Man like Dr. Herty on the campus tonight what chance has a little old column got of getting itself read at all. Maybe that's the reason with a deadline only 30 minutes away it isn't nearly so disturbing as it usually is, and maybe that's why the thought of facing Lucy with tardy copy isn't giving me a single horror.

—Dr. Herty is a wonderful man.

Dot Maxwell was seen sitting in a swing with someone. Her roommate was unable to identify from a distance. When her roommate asked her who the man she was with happened to be, Dot's reply was, "That wasn't any man, that was Dr. Rogers."

One of Anabella Brown's cronies became suddenly concerned and curious the other day over why those silly little things that are placed under glasses at times are called "coasters."

With her usual flash of wit Anabella within five minutes came out with, "I guess it's because they keep the glasses from getting too coaster like."

Several Sundays ago while Eleanor Peebles was lucky enough to be riding, she passed a group, or flock, (or is it litter?) of turkeys. By some ridiculous slip of the tongue she exclaimed, "Oh, look at the turtles!"

And the other day Miss Tate referred in all seriousness to gastronomic goose on the stomach.

Mary Bartlett had a birthday the other day and because recently (and before that) she has been a chronic needle borrower, Ruth Huckleby presented her with a package of needles. If she can't take a hint, surely she'll get the point to that one.

A hat in the hand is more embarrassing than two in the bush or something like that. At least, that's what one of our more innocent maids can vouch for after what she did a Sunday night or two ago. On her way to the tea room, she saw a cap apparently resting on top of a bush. She reached and picked up her find—to her utter amazement a bare-headed Jimmy was left exposed.

Dr. Boesen has been of late the prey of a certain party who intends to sell him an automobile. His resistance bore up remarkably until the other day. He was offered a car to try out; as it was raining he took the chance, with the understanding that he would drive to school. On the way, however, he was asked by a state patrolman to show his license. Of course, he didn't have one and consequently he was asked to report to court—and he did.

He seems to have more than his share of hard luck, anyway. The other day out at the lake he decided to go wading—stepped in—but found the water deeper than he had anticipated. Wet practically all over, he got out, walked barefooted along the bank, and got enough gravel embedded in his feet to necessitate a doctor's treatment.

The recent tragedy which was heart-rending to so many was the passing of the dearly beloved X-Ray on the 1st, 2nd, 3rd of this month of May, nineteen hundred and thirty eight Anno Domino. Now X-Ray was a very remarkable gold-fish (only he wasn't gold at all—that's the reason he was called X-Ray—because you could see through him).

He became sick suddenly, lingered three days, and then died in a condition of lateral paralysis. The cause of his death is a mystery. The only possible hint is the fact that he was accidentally hit in the head with a rock from his bowl by Cohn Bowers with whom he was spending the home-going week-end. Many were left bereaved by his going, as he was sort of possessed in general by the third floor of Bell.

The characters in the play were Leila Griffith, Martha Donaldson, Martha Liddell, Beth Williams, Marion Culpepper, Grace Clark, Louise Murphy, Mildred Westbrook, Elizabeth Chandler, Rose Newman, Frances Bowles, Dot Howell, Alma McLean, Catherine Combs, Edith Ann Teasley, and Helen Price.

According to custom, new members are admitted to the Jesters after tryouts in the fall. These girls selected this fall were Louise Murphy, Ruth Clodfelter, Alice Walker, Catherine Combs, Virginia Young, Lucile Bentley, Julia Marie Stewart, Elizabeth Tonde, Patricia Annau, Mildred Hatcher, Carolyn Stringer, Jane McConnell, Mary Bros, Frances Coates, Louise Stanley, Mary Rainey, Anna Dee Stokes, Marjorie Edwards, Elizabeth Ann Williams, and Mildred Jenkins.

Working with Catherine Reddick in the Recreation Association are Virginia Shoffett, Carrollton, Vice-President; Dot Peacock, Columbus, Secretary; and Peggy Booth, Cocoa, Florida, Treasurer.

Senior class officers are Cohn Bowers, Atlanta, Vice-President; Mary Bartlett, Atlanta, Representative to Court; Emily Jordan, Dana, Florida, Secretary; Margaret McGovern, Thomasville, Treasurer; Eleanor Peebles, Atlanta, Representative to Rec Board; and Mary Volk, Macon, Representative to Council.

Officers of the Junior class are Jane Johnson, College Park, Representative to Court; Sunny Ferguson, College Park, Vice-President; Elizabeth Leiber, Denton, Secretary; Lou Ellen Meadows, Treasurer; Helen Reeve, Calhoun, Representative to Rec Board; and Marion Bennett, Jessup, Representative to Council.

Sophomore officers are Hortense Fountain, Adrian, Representative to Court; Edith Ann Teasley, Toccoa, Vice-President; Catherine Boynton, Albany, Secretary; Frances Wilkie, Griffin, Treasurer; Catherine Reddick, Columbus, and Ruby Donald, Ridgewood, New Jersey, Representatives to Rec Board; and Madeline Blackwelder, Griffin, Representative to Council.

"Y" Column

Cooperation

There is getting to be some talk of changing the names of the two organizations of College Government and the Young Women's Christian Association to some more inclusive title that would express more adequately the marvelous accord (really we are not feeling) that now characterizes the relations that exist between these campus organs. Have you suggestions?

Next Year

The Y has succeeded in "homing" all the people it needs to fill its official positions for the next year. This column wishes to emphasize the fact that without the aid and assistance of all other students in the various classes, the work of these officially named few will not count for much in the life of the college. Next year we hope that Wednesday night each week, will be "Y Night." On that night the Freshman class groups and the four discussion groups (Christian Faith, Personal Relations, World Community, Economics and Labor) will meet simultaneously. There is a place for every student on the campus in one of these groups.

National Intergcollegiate Christian Council

The national aspects of the local Y were brought more clearly to the attention this week by Margaret Garbutt's attendance at the NICC planning committee in St. Louis. Fourteen college students from all U. S. regions met there to discuss how the National Intergcollegiate Christian Associations can best decide the issues to be studied during the next year by local Associations. Some large questions confronting us are: cooperation with churches, dissemination of effort in too many areas, union of the YMCA and the YWCA, and peace strategies.

Retreat

While you are reading this column (if you are like us, who always can hardly wait until the Sunday night delivery of the Colonade) the programs of the three organizations for this year and next are being studied with a critical eye out at the Lake-side Lodge in GSCW's new Recreation Center. Student Council and Upper Court; Recreation Board; and YWCA Cabinet, Commission, Council, and Freshman Sponsors are meeting in annual spring retreat to consider the "situation" on the campus. You, the reader of this column, as a typical GSCW student, are the object of concern; the officers and others charged with responsibility for government, recreation, and the spiritualization of life here, are meditating by the chief desire to make life better and more creative for you next year. If you know ways it can be done, please let those ways be known.

The Best of This Year

The rest of this year in the Y will be devoted chiefly to considering plans for next year. The new officers are coming by the office daily for conferences about what their new duties are, what they can do to further the stated purpose of the YWCA. In the lives of GSCW students: "We, the students of the Georgia State College for Women, in Milledgeville, unite in the desire to realize rich and creative life through a growing knowledge of God, and to make this life possible for all people. In this task we seek to understand Jesus and follow him."

WHAT AND WHY

A hardly healthy perennial in the Student Movement is discussion by new officers and cabinets of the purpose of the campus Christian Association.

The Christian Association is a voluntary, nondenominational fellowship of Christian students and faculty whose purpose is to follow the lead of Jesus Christ in establishing a father-son relation to God and a brotherly relation to man. The Association realizes that

Beth Williams Is Named Secretary of Freshman Sponsors

Beth Williams has been appointed Secretary to the Freshman Sponsors by the Executive Committee of the Y. W. C. A. This is a new position in the Y. Beth has been a member of the Freshman Council more smoothly and democratically. As secretary, Beth will work with Ruth Van Cise, who is first Vice-President of the Y. Beth has been a member of Freshman Council and has taken an active part in the activities of the Y during the past year.

religious experience consists neither in the worship of God nor in the performance of brotherly acts, when either is done alone. Together, but never separately, they constitute the religious experience of Christians. In seeking unity with God through worship one becomes acutely aware of the hate and fear and injustice in the world. To complete the religious act one must do everything possible to substitute love and trust for fear and hate in the world. The Christian Association seeks to play its part in making God's will operative in personal and campus relationships and in broader social relationships.

Membership in the Association is open to any student or faculty member interested in its purpose. Recognizing that students vary greatly in their religious development, provision is made in the Association membership for students who are only vaguely aware that their desire for better campus attitudes is related to the Christian religion; for students who have become temporarily disillusioned with some institutional expression of religion; and for mature, convinced, growing Christians.

Many of the values of the Student Christian Association are shared together or less degree by the church, the college or the home. The unique function of the Student Christian Association lies in five of its attributes:

(1) It is a free, voluntary, locally autonomous fellowship. It is free from any external authority to experiment with new interpretations of the Christian faith and to pioneer into new fields of social action. Its highest authority is the Christian insight of the members of the group. This free, unfettered character of the Associations has been the structural cause of the new and creative insights the Associations have helped to give to modern Christian experience. Society must always have free, independent groups to explore new, powerful, more permanent institutions to conserve the values of the past and to select from the experiments of the present those which have lasting value.

(2) The Christian Association is representative of all the varied Christian groups on the campus. Through it Christians attempt to satisfy their longing for the Church Universal, which transcends all the divisions of present-day religious life, but at the same time to remain within an actual Church. Student leaders who learn to work together through the Christian Association will play their part in uniting the divided Christian Church.

(3) The Association includes in its membership students who have temporarily renounced the Church or who have never been a part of it. Through working in the Association many of these come to see new values in the Christian religion and continue to participate in religious movements after college.

(4) Being an indigenous part of campus life, the Association is in a position to affect vitally the total life of the campus.

(5) The campus Association participates in a democratic national and world movement which provides for the continual cross-fertilization of ideas and methods and for Christian world fellowship in life and action.

Donaldson, Stapleton, Weaver Head Publications

Betty Donaldson, Editor of The Colonade.

Matilee Stapleton, editor of The Spectrum.

Betty Donaldson, Quinlan, Matilee Stapleton, Weston, and Margaret Weaver, Ducktown, Tennessee, will edit the 1938-39 Colonade, Spectrum, and Corinthian, respectively.

Dorothy Howell, Cartersville, Dorothy Peacock, Columbus, and Louise Moore, Sidney, Ohio, will serve as Business Managers of the Colonade, Spectrum, and Corinthian.

Helen Reeve was elected Associate Editor of the Corinthian. Only three of the members of the Corinthian staff were elected.

Seventy-five students from G. S. C. W. and G. M. C. were selected after tryouts the first week in October to sing in the Milledgeville A Cappella Choir. And thus began the most successful year in the history of the choir, directed by Max Noah.

The choir made few appearances before the main tour of the year. However, the group did sing in Sandersville, Eatonton, Sparta, Statesboro, Savannah, Macon, Augusta, and Thomson prior to March 18. The highpoint of the year's activities was, of course, the tour through Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Florida. The tour began on March 18 with the choir giving its first concert in Griffin, Georgia. The following day the group sang over WSB in Atlanta, and that night gave a concert in Villa Rica. Concerts were given in Birmingham, Alabama; Vicksburg, Mississippi; Monroe, Louisiana; New Orleans, Louisiana; Pocomoke, Mississippi; Mobile, Alabama; Sylvester, Georgia; and Moultrie, Georgia. The home concert was given at the Methodist Church in Milledgeville on March 28.

Climax of the year's activities was the annual choir banquet, at which Rev. R. N. Oakley was the main speaker. Bonnie Burge read the diary of the choir. At the banquet was shown a movie of some of the most entertaining scenes and features of the choir trip.

On the last Sunday in the school year, the Choir Guild, which is composed of members of the A Cappella Choir, will meet. At the meeting, members will be presented with certificates, and Seniors who are charter members of the choir will be presented with pins. It is customary for old members of the choir to return for this occasion, at which the entire group will sing two of their favorite numbers, directed by students.

The personnel of the choir is as follows: Mary Ann Sneath, Mary Willie Bowen, Bonnie Burge, Vallie Enloe, Hortense Fountain, Margaret Fowler, Lula Gardner, Polly Prather, Katherine Kirkland, Betsy Brown, Nan Gardner, Melba Rackley, Margaret Northcutt, Margaret Rawls, Flora Haynes, Lyra Mae Godwin, Dorothy Brown, Harriette Chick, Anna Belle Simpson, Grace Drewry, Mary Elizabeth Ellenton, Catherine Hopkins, Margaret Powell, Nell Bryan, Margaret Hester, Trula Lowe, Margery Strickland, Gertrude Baker, Betty Knox, Grace Clark, Carrie Baile, Frances Stovall, Ann Sutton, Edna Barton, Frances Muldrow, Jeanette Bryan, Karin Pfister, Marjorie Wood, Carroll Howard, Frances Brown, Mrs. Max Noah, Annela Brown, Gonzalo Segura, Thomas Green, Edwin Bass, Grace Talley, Bridget Palmer, Gladys Fields, Dorothy Leach, Laura Barron, Maurice Kinney, Callie Morris, Carl Mapes, Warren Swinson, U. J. Hogan, William Kelley, Dr. Henry Rogers, Curtis Lane, Blake Kutsche, Buddie Croom, James Sullivan, C. B. Wright, Martha Carter, Ruth Van Cise, Laura Artley, Margaret McGavock, and Frank D'Andrea.

The Executive Committee of the choir is composed of Bonnie Burge, Vallie Enloe, Grace Drewry, Frances Stovall, Thomas Green, Curtis Lane, Warren Swinson, and Gonzalo Segura.

Music Festival Assembles 1200 Students

Approximately 1200 high school girls and boys attended the second annual Georgia State School Music Festival held in Milledgeville. Forty-four schools and forty towns entered the events staged. The Music Festival extended over two days, May 11 and 12.

The program consisted of mixed choruses, girls' and boys' glee clubs, mixed small vocal groups, vocal solos by soprano, contralto, tenor, baritone, and boys' unchanged voices; piano solos; orchestras, concert bands, chamber groups of woodwind instruments; and of brass instruments; miscellaneous groups of stringed instruments; solos for violin, flute, clarinet, bassoon, saxophone, trumpet, cornet, French horn; batphone-euphonium; tuba, trombone; xylophone and snare drum.

April 12 on the GMC Parade Ground the marching bands performed individually and then together gave a program of four numbers under the leadership of Arthur Williams, of Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, who was in attendance as one of the judges. The other judges were Merrill C. McEwen, head of the department of Music Education in Bowling Green State University, Ohio; Mike McDowell, Assistant Professor of Music at the University of Georgia; Ronald J. Neil, of the Music Department of Statesboro, and Frank D'Andrea, of G. S. C. W.

FIFTH CELEBRATION OF PARENTS' DAY OBSERVED

One of G. S. C. W.'s best-loved traditions, that of observing Parents' Day, was established in 1934 when the first celebration was held under the sponsorship of the Granddaughters' Club.

On May 11, 1934, approximately five hundred parents gathered on the campus as the guests of their college daughters. The program in the morning included registration with the dormitories competing for attendance prizes, a special chapel program put on by students, and a tour of the campus with sightseeing groups being organized by student "guides." A barbecue on the front campus was followed by a sight-seeing trip of Milledgeville with the cars of the visiting parents forming a motorcade. A reception at the Mansion given by President J. L. Beeson and Mrs. Beeson concluded the day. Present at this occasion was Dr. Guy H. Wells, president-elect of the college, who was to act as host for the next Parents' Day.

In 1935 the observance of the G. S. C. W. Parents' Day had attracted enough state-wide attention to merit a cartoon drawn by Mr. Brewton, of the Atlanta Journal staff, for his weekly cartoon strip of state affairs. The theme event of the second Parents' Day was a May Day festival sponsored by the Health and Physical Education department. Lovely Viola Caruth, of Roswell, was the college's first May Queen and Mary Jim Williams, of Greensboro, was her maid of honor. The May Court which was composed of three girls from each class included Mary Louise Dunn, Marietta, Marjorie Bales, Savannah, from the senior class; Caroline Reidy, Atlanta; Dot Allen, Hapeville, and Georgette Walker, McDonough, representing the junior class; Mary Pitts Allen, Monticello; Mary McGavock, Thomasville; and Juliette Burrus, Columbus, of the sophomore class; and Rachel Parsons, Columbus, Elyne Greene, Macon, and LeVert Weems, Cartersville, representing the freshman class. The queen and her court were chosen by vote of the entire student body. A special program of dances was reviewed by the queen and the visitors during the afternoon.

The third observance of Parents' Day in 1936 saw eight hundred and thirty guests registered with additional visitors who failed to register. Bringing the total to well over a thousand. Professor R. L. Ramsey, then principal of Fulton High School in Atlanta, present executive secretary of the Georgia Education Association, was the principal speaker at the chapel program. Mrs. W. Y. Atkinson, wife of the man who introduced into the state legislature the bill which created the Georgia State College for Women, was the guest of honor.

The feature entertainment of the day was the Uniform Review which was staged on the front campus during the afternoon. The Uniform Parade which was planned far in advance for the day almost completely off because of the lack of wigs on the campus. Miss Magda Jenkins, vice-president of the alumnae, who was in charge of the program, forgot that the modern girl includes emancipation from the stays. From the entire student body she could find only a few who were able to squeeze into the uniforms worn by the girls who attended G. S. C. W. in its early days. Finally, with the help of a dressmaker and many deep breaths the maker and the uniforms and wores them in a pagan depicting scenes from college life of the past. Mrs. Douglas Rumble, of Emory University, appeared in the parade in the graduation dress which she wore in June, 1904. This part of the program was coordinated with modern college dress in a fashion show, staged by the home economics

Parents' Day Sponsored By Unique Club

The Granddaughters' Club this year takes its place among the veteran organizations of the campus.

The purpose of the club is "To create and enjoy a happy friendship based on that of our one time G. S. C. W. student mothers."

The Parents' Day celebration is an annual project of the Granddaughters' Club, the custom having been established in 1933, under the advisement of Miss Louise Smith. The club has several other projects which make up their year's activities. They publish a directory of all students and the staff of the college, and aid the Alumnae Association in the activities during the year.

The Granddaughters' Club is composed of girls whose mothers attended G. S. C. W. The officers for this year are: Sue Simpson, president, Saralyn Wooten, vice-president, Suzanne Talbot, Secretary, and Edith Harber, Treasurer.

The membership of the club for this year is: Martha Adams, Louise Alford, Gertrude Baker, Margaret Barksdale, Laura Barron, Gwynne Barnett, Eleanor Berry, Mary Biles, Mary Frances Boggs, Priscilla Bright, Frances Brittain, Mary Broome, Grace Brown, Emily Charlie, Grace Clark, Dorothy Cooley, Edwina Cox, Katherine Cox, Mary Cox, Eugenia Davis, Beula Dowda, Frances Dows, Margaret Echols, Helen Foster, Eloise Freeman, Harriet Gallaher, Frances Gillen, Rebecca Grace, Nell Griffith, Alice Hall, Edith Harbor, Mae Holshausen, Vera Houston, Alice Humphries, Mary Inman, Jane Lankford, Elizabeth Ledbetter, Claude Lee, Minnie Heath Lee, Sue Lindsey, Elizabeth Lucas, Virginia Horne, Beth Manning, Nan McLeod, Elizabeth McCollum, Lois McCrory, Evelyn McNeil, Janet Miller, Betty Mitchell, Martha Morrison, Julia Morton, Helen Mosley, Frances Muldrow, Kathryn Nelson, Charlotte Nolan, Beryl Pope, Carol Pryor, Eileen Pryor, Frances Rowan, Jean Russell, Betty Shell, Anna Battle Simpson, Sue Simpson, Roselle Southwell, Mary Stokes, Carolyn Stringer, Suzanne Talbot, Ann Taylor, Kathryn Tedder, Jennie Touchton, Mable Tucker, Frances Turner, Clara Ware, Margaret Weaver, Elaine Wells, Grace White, Mary Williams, Eloise Wilson, Saralyn Wooten, Sarah Zeigler, Josephine Bone, Agnes Brodnax, Marian Moore, Helen Winn, and Lavinia McArt.

Constitution Birthday Observed Here

Outstanding among the activities of the fall quarter was the Sesqui-centennial Celebration of the Formation of the Constitution, in which the college collaborated with a local committee. Committee in charge of the celebration was composed of Dr. Amanda Johnson, chairman; Miss Ida Pound, and Mr. John Morgan.

One of the main features of the celebration was the placing of the Shrine of the Constitution in the library. The Shrine of the Constitution is the exact facsimile of the Constitution and of the Declaration of Independence in their original sizes, as well as the facsimile of the signatures.

There were three phases of the celebration, the first consisting of a Dedication Service, at which Clinton W. Hager, Judge of Federal District Court, Atlanta, made the main address on "The Constitution." After this program, the Shrine of the Constitution was placed in the library.

A second phase consisted of the informational side of the program. There were three chapel programs on the Constitution, mainly for explanatory purposes.

The climax of the celebration took the form of a pageant in costume, the program being given in conjunction with the Georgia Day program.

Twelve Girls Named In Who's Who

For the first time, G. S. C. W. students are listed in the current issue of National Who's Who for Students in American Colleges and Universities. This year twelve students were selected: ten Seniors and two Juniors.

Those girls selected were: Joan Butler, Savannah; Margaret Garbutt, Albany; Frances Roane, Atlanta; Bonnie Barge, Monroe, Louisiana; Lucy Caldwell, Atlanta; Mary Kethley, Atlanta; Elyne Greene, Macon; Vallie Enloe, Senoia; Eleanor Berry, Villa Rica; Eleanor Swann, Covington; Virginia Forbes, Griffin; and Mary Bartlett, Atlanta.

The students are chosen only from the Junior and Senior classes and are selected on a basis of leadership in campus activities as well as scholarship. The number of students allotted to each school is decided according to the enrollment of the school.

The book is becoming widely recognized all over the country in business and social circles, and last year included students from four hundred colleges and universities.

Vesper Choir Sings Regularly During Year

Adding much to the attractiveness of Vesper services on the campus and giving a valuable addition in the field of music has been the Vesper Choir, instigated last year by the Y. W. C. A. and Mr. Nay Noah, Mr. Noah being the director.

The choir sings every Sunday night at Vespers, and adds an effective touch to the ceremony. The members have also made appearances at various programs during the year. This year, on May 20, the choir will give a complete concert, including secular numbers. This concert will be more or less sponsored by the A Cappella Choir.

Members of the Vesper Choir are: Martha Daniel, Irene Durham, Julia Fleming, Frances Gillen, Nedra Lindell, Helene Hubbert, Gladys Estelle Knight, Catherine Lloyd, Mamie Carolyn Mandeville, Winifred Noble, Laurette Prince, Helen Prince, Carol Pryor, M. Hiking
Don't forget to meet the group in the court to take a hike. The days are Wednesday and Saturday and the time varies. On Wednesday May 18, there will be a pilgrimage to Mrs. Hines' and on Saturday May 21, the group will hike to the Country Club. Watch the chart in Bell Annex Gymnasium for more definite information concerning places, leaders, etc.

Soft-Ball
It's too bad the paper has to go to press before we can find out the winners in the Soft-Ball tournament that has been moving along this week, but if excitement has anything to do with it, it seems as if everybody is winning. Support your teams at all times even if you can't always find it convenient to play. You can always be sure of a welcome from the Manager of Soft-Ball and the members of the teams. Meet us there on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5:00.

Social Dancing
Do you know absolutely all of the newest steps in Social Dancing? If you don't, are you interested in learning, there is no better place than Margaret Brooks' informal group on Thursdays at 5:00. She is always ready to help you improve your dancing and it's oh so easy to learn!

Archery
Archers and Archery fans on the campus will be interested to know that there will be a telegraphic tournament on May 19 in which many of our campus Target-Shooters will participate. The tournament will be played, the scores tabulated and TELEGRAPHED to other schools entering into the tournament. They, in turn, will telegraph their scores to us and the winners will be known. It promises to be great fun and you'll right there to receive those telegrams. Who knows, you might turn out to be a Telegraph Girl some day!

Cottillon Club
A date has been set for the exhibition dance of the Cottillon Club. Practice began Thursday night and the members are continuing to work hard in order to make June 1st, the date of the exhibition, a successful occasion. A skill club of this kind is rather unusual, so much concentration is being shown by members and they are constantly striving to improve skill.

Several additional members completed requirements for membership Monday: Catherine Cavanaugh, Katie Brown, Madeline Furr, Ruth Huddley, Madeline Murphy, Margaret Burkdale, and Rosemond Dowling. Watch for announcements about the exhibition.

Individual Sports
It is generally understood that all of us have work to do. Considering this fact, we have a remedy for all hard workers on the campus—A GOOD INDIVIDUAL SPORT. These refreshments are served on the front campus every day and consist of dishes A LA Poodle Tennis, A LA Badminton and a choice of a variety of other appetizing sports. Just try one bite and you will surely go back for more! The tournament will begin Monday and everybody will take part. No one is to be left out and the

Pittman Addresses Pi Gamma Mu

"Men must learn to master the machines which they have invented or the machines will master men," declared Dr. Marvin Pittman of South Georgia Teachers College addressing the annual banquet of the Social Science honorary fraternity Pi Gamma Mu Monday night.

Detailing the technical advances made in the last few centuries, Dr. Pittman went further to point out danger signs in our democracy arising from the world trend toward totalitarianism. "When the people become weary with the complexities of their life, when they have doubts as to their ability to cope with the affairs of their economic and social life, they are inclined to shift the responsibility to some strong man who will run things for them," declared Dr. Pittman. In Europe this has been evidenced by the growing authority of Hitler and Mussolini, and even in the United States we see certain signs of attempts to put the responsibility for action upon the shoulders of one man.

Pi Gamma Mu is a national honorary social science fraternity, and is composed of members of the social science faculty and selected students who have attained certain averages in their work and whose interests lie along such lines. The students invited to join the fraternity this year include, Roxanna Austin, Kenwood; Effie Bagby, Dalton; Charlotte Howard, Cedartown; Ruby Jones, Baxley; Marion Arthur, Albany; Martha Glad, Rome.

Following the banquet last night officers for the coming year were re-elected to serve for next year. These officers are, H. N. Mauser, President, Austelle Adams, Vice-President, and Dr. Francis P. Daniels, Secretary and Treasurer. Dr. Pittman was made a member of the chapter at the conclusion of the exercises, and Mrs. Pittman was made an honorary member.

front campus will be full of excitement the entire week.

Tennis Tournament
Have you forgotten that you have a match to be played off? Rush to Bell Annex gymnasium and look up your partner. Anyone on a court will vacate for your tournament match. Play today!

College Gives Credit For European Tour

Initiating a new and attractive feature of college education, Dr. S. L. McGee will conduct an eight week study tour to Europe this summer. The tour is an outgrowth of and an enlargement of a regulation made by the state Department of Education to the effect that travel under the auspices of any of the accredited colleges of the state for which the college granted credit toward a degree, would be acceptable as credit toward the requirements for a Teacher's Certificate.

The tour as planned will take the form of an artistic and literary pilgrimage to the principal countries of western Europe and will combine the advantages of leisurely travel with the economy of group travel. A distinctive feature of the tour will be the establishment of social contacts between the members of the party and distinguished Europeans in the several countries visited.

The group will leave New York on June 11th and will travel eight weeks, returning on August 13. Forty-one days will be spent in Europe. Half of that time will be spent in Scotland and England.

Travel arrangements and the details of the program are being handled by the Open Road, Inc., a travel organization maintained in the interests of international friendship and education. The group will be accompanied in each country by national and local guides who will act as aids, interpreters, and hosts. These young men and women are not professional guides but are picked for their knowledge of the traditions and history of their native lands, their ability to speak English, and their personality. They will arrange teas, lectures, interviews, and visits with professors, students and literary people in their respective countries.

The cost of the tour, New York to New York, will be $500 third class ocean travel, or $600 tourist class. The figure covers all the items usually included in a tour cost, plus several things which are distinctive to this particular tour: five performances of plays, concert or opera, which will be incorporated into the program and to the costs incident to the social functions which will be planned through European friends.

The first concert of the tour was given in Athens, in the University chapel. On Wednesday, May 4, the orchestra played in Atlanta at the Woman's Club. All musical groups in the city were invited to this appearance, including the Atlanta Philharmonic Chorus, and various school glee clubs. Thursday morning the orchestra played over WSE in Atlanta. The last concert was given at Wesleyan Conservatory in Macon Thursday night, after which the girls returned to Milledgeville. The home concert was given Friday, May 6, in the Russell auditorium.

Alumnae Corner

Among the graduates who returned for commencement festivities last June was Nellie Lowman (Mrs. A. D.) Williams. She enjoyed her visit and was especially pleased with the idea of having a birthday party for the Mansion. Returning to her home in Fitzgerald, she wrote the following poem which we think fits well into our program of this week.

The Mansion
(At GSCW)

The iris flags the passerby
To cease their talk,
And pause before the majesty
Of stately columns rising high

Then beckons daintily to them
To enter in;
And courtesies primly from each stem
Then bows again.

The years roll back within the great
Historic walls.
The stately mirrors, chairs sedate,
And polished floors commemorate
Old-fashioned balls.

Be still—and hear the silken swish
Of satin gown;
And close your eyes with ardent wish
For sparkling cup and silver dish
Of past renown.

Once more grey uniforms behold;
Hark to the tread
Of heroes—dauntless heroes bold,
That kiss the lily-hands so cold,
And soon are dead.

Pass through the quaint rotunda
proud,
The age recall
When statesmen to first ladies bowed,
In cotton clad, who nobly vowed
To give their all.

To build again the Southland dear,
Until the blooms
Of Paradise again appear.
And now, 'Awake, O guest, 'tis here!
So say these rooms.

So say these rooms from out the past;
And yet they sigh.
It is because they feel at last
They are not needed by the vast Majority!

Arise, oh sons and daughters true,
A century
This mansion has been spared to you.
Return with heirloom gifts, to do
Amenity!

Steele to Give Organ Recital On Sunday

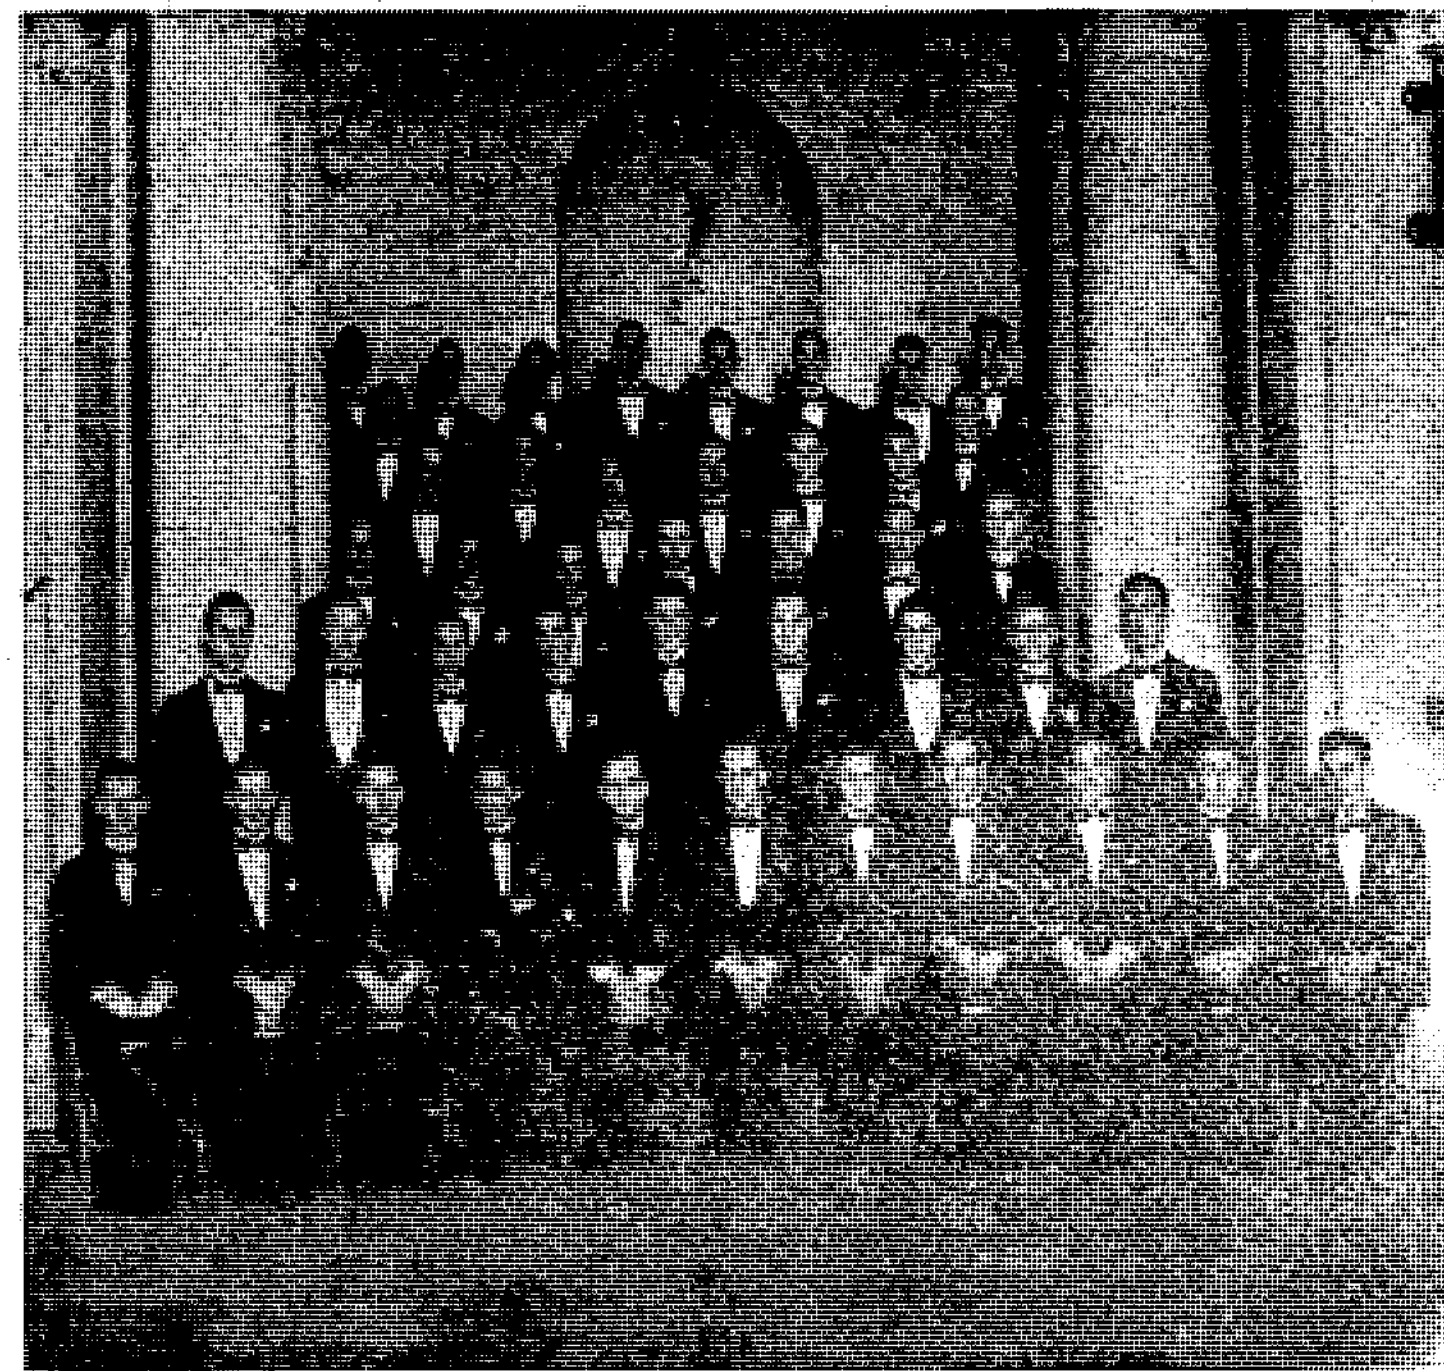

Dwight Steele, organist and director of music at Coker College, Hartsville, South Carolina, will give a complete recital in Russell Auditorium, Sunday, May 15th, at 6:45 P. M. Mr. Steele had his training at Michigan University, Chicago and New York. He appeared at G. S. C. W. last year and was requested to make a return engagement. Mr. Steele plays entirely from memory and presents a program that is well within the appreciation of any listener. The public is cordially invited to attend. No charge will be made. The Milledgeville College Choir will sing one group also. The program is as follows: Concert Overture in A, Maitland, Intermezzo in D-flat, Hollins, Tocata, Adagio, and Fugue in C, Bach. Mr. Steele. Hear My Prayer, Mendelssohn. Nan Gardner, Soloist. Choral Improvisation on "In dulci jubilo," Karg-Elert. Pastorale from First Sonata, Guilman, Chorale in A minor, Frank. Mr. Steele.

Debaters End Successful Season

Two G. S. C. W. debating teams made a trip to West Georgia College at Corvallis and Young Harris College last week-end. The question debated at both schools was Resolved, That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to Enforce Arbitration in All Industrial Disputes.

Gladys Freeman and Arva Tolbert upheld the affirmative in their debate Friday with West Georgia College. In the debate Saturday evening at Young Harris College, Sue Lindsey and Eugenia Turner told how conditions in the industrial world justify a change from the present Wagner Act in proving that compulsory arbitration should be adopted.

Mr. W. C. Capel accompanied the debaters on this trip. William Dillard and Thurman Waller from Middle Georgia College in Cochran upheld the affirmative in a debate with Helen Belvin and Edwina Cox on the Phi Kappa Delta question here Saturday evening as the home activity of the Debating team.

GEORGIA GLEE CLUB

Large Attendance Forecast For Summer School

An extensive program for an enlarged summer school has been announced for the coming summer sessions. The first summer term will begin on June 15 with registration, and classes will begin on June 16 at 12:00 o'clock and will run until July 22. The second term, as usual, will last but five weeks, beginning on July 23 and ending on August 26.

The enlarged curriculum this summer will include college credit for a trip abroad under the direction of Dr. Sidney McGee. This is the first time that such a trip has been offered for college credit. Courses in Vocational Guidance, Visual Education and Applied Curriculum study will feature the educational courses offered.

A large enrollment is predicted for the summer term according to school officials. Basing their estimates on the number of requests for information and applications it is quite likely that the enrollment this summer will exceed the record set last year. Several outstanding educators have been added to the summer school faculty to teach the new courses. Among those who will assist in the Education department are: Mr. B. A. Lancaster, Supt. of Schools, LaGrange, Georgia; Mr. L. F. Skyles, Director of Visual Education, Jacksonville, Florida; L. A. Cox, Elementary Supervisor, Savannah, Georgia; Miss Jessie Slocumb, Elementary Supervisor, Atlanta, Georgia; Mr. J. L. Taylor, Superintendent of Schools, Searcy, Arkansas; Mr. A. J. Hargrove, Supt. of Schools, Dublin, Georgia; Mrs. Bessie Howell, Professor of Education, Arkansas College, Jonesboro, Arkansas.

Mrs. Nan W. Ingram, who is State Supervisor of Nursery Schools, will teach the nursery school under the title of Parent Education during the second term.

Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Dyer will also be included on the summer school faculty. At present, Dr. Dyer is professor of Social Science at Armstrong Junior College and Mrs. Dyer is Instructor in Health in the Savannah Public Schools.

The Physical Education Department will have on its staff several specialists in Recreation who will plan an extensive recreational program designed to take advantage of the new recreational grounds at the lake. First Aid will be taught by Commodore W. E. Longfellow, representing the National Red Cross. Miss Betty Cline, who is now teaching at the University of Georgia, will be in charge of recreation. Miss Marie Clemens, Director of Physical Education for Girls in Robert E. Lee High School, Jacksonville, Florida, will teach a methods course and the service non-credit activity course.

A College Entertainment program will be offered, featuring several numbers, and regular summer school dances will be held during both sessions. The regular faculty of the college will teach the usual college subjects.

Camp Burton Not To Operate This Summer
Camp Burton has been temporarily closed, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Guy H. Wells. The camp will not open at all this summer, due to the resignation of the director of the camp, Miss Lillian Neece. Miss Kitzinger, who was to take over directorship of the camp, will not be able to do so, having accepted a position elsewhere. The authorities consider that at this date it is too late to perfect plans for the summer; consequently, the camp will not open this year but will be continued next year as a regular part of the college course.

MASQUERADERS

Margaret Bracey, Thomasville, was elected president of the Jesters for 1938-39 at a recent meeting of the club. Elected to serve with her for the ensuing year are Celia Deese, Dublin, Vice-President; Ann Hall, Secretary; Ann Kendrick, Atlanta, Treasurer; and Jeannette Pool, Chairman of Program Committee.

The Masqueraders is a dramatic organization on the campus supplementary to the Jesters. During the year the members study acting, make-up, staging, costuming, and directing. They produce several plays, acted and directed by members of the club.

and their Fair Ladies who occupied the Mansion in ante-bellum days. The program will bear the information concerning the most important event which occurred during each governor's regime. The alarm of War, the secession convention, the marching off of the Boys in Gray—and the return—in defeat—all have been masterfully included.

Part two deals with the Educational Life of the Mansion with the Spirit of Education leading the march of the GN and IC and the GSCW girls. The four president and their wives appear and the Educational Tradition and the Future of the Mansion is reviewed and predicted. After the epilogue, the Alma Mater will be led by the orchestra.

A special orchestra and chorus from the Georgia State College for Women will furnish the music which will be in keeping with each scene. The chorus will be gowned in Greek robes and color ballets will help depict the story. Old time dances, in costume, will add to the attractiveness of the occasion.

The personnel of the committees serving in the presentation of this pageant are: Dr. Guy H. Wells, Miss Genn Grubb and Mrs. Max Noah, Mrs. J. L. Beeson, Miss Mamie Padgett, Miss Dutterer, Dr. Manchester, Miss Kitzinger, Miss Andrews Miss Jennings, Mr. Max Neph, and Mr. Frank D'Andrea, Mrs. Guy H. Wells and Miss Katherine Scott.
